PROGRAM NOTES:

Online Courses: Only two online courses can be used to satisfy the degree requirements.

Capstone: Any 300-level or higher Africana course can satisfy the capstone requirement, but if a student would like to use an independent study, graduate seminar, or internship to meet this requirement, she should consult with the program director. A 300-level or higher course can count as a capstone after 18 credits (6 classes) have been taken in the major.

Electives: Courses that are taken to satisfy the Theory, History and Literature, or Methodology requirements cannot also count as electives.
